Seashore Updates

- Last Wednesday morning, John Carmichael Healy from Raleigh, North Carolina went missing near Oregon Inlet. After looking for Mr. Healy for sixteen and a half hours, the U.S. Coast Guard suspended search efforts on the evening of July 3. Cape Hatteras National Seashore visitors are encouraged to call 252-473-3444 to report any information that could help locate Mr. Healy.
- Next Saturday (July 20), we hope you take a short drive north of the Seashore to visit Wright Brothers National Memorial during the 50th anniversary of the moon landing. On the evening of July 20th, a viewing party will be held on the grounds from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m., where the original news footage of the first moon landing will be rebroadcast. This special event is a recreation of a viewing party that took place at the Memorial on July 20, 1969. The park will be fee-free, and open until 9:00 p.m. Visit the Memorial's webpage soon for additional details, including an exciting special guest speaker announcement. You do not want to miss this event!
- An additional four-tenths of a mile was recently reopened to pedestrians on South Beach near South Beach Road.
- A protection buffer remains in place at Cape Point to protect approximately 30 least tern nests, more than 50 least tern eggs, and multiple least tern chicks.
  - ORVs and pedestrians can currently travel 0.61 miles south of ORV Ramp 44. Only the last quarter mile of the Ramp 44 beach route is within the protection buffer.
  - Staff continue to monitor the Cape Point area. Once nesting activity has concluded, the protection buffer at Cape Point will be removed.
- Airing down off-road vehicle tires to at least 20 psi before entering beach access ramps is highly recommended.
- For current beach access information and the weekly mileage summary, go to: <http://go.nps.gov/beachaccess>. For field summary, visit: <http://go.nps.gov/fieldsummary>. Mileage and field summaries are updated every Thursday during the shorebird and sea turtle nesting seasons.
