Join us on beautiful
Ocracoke Island for the
4th Annual NC Catch
Summit!!

NC Catch invites you to attend our 4th Annual Seafood Summit! This year's opening dinner will be on Monday evening and is hosted by the Ocracoke Working Watermen's Association offering an opportunity to enjoy great North Carolina Seafood while networking with people that truly care about the seafood industry!

Summit workshops begin the next morning and continue through early afternoon and will feature ongoing projects, regional partnerships and goals for 2015!

Your involvement is critical to the success of NC Catch and to the health of commercial fishing. A full agenda will follow but please save the date!

NC CATCH
REAL LOCAL SEAFOOD

NC Catch will hold the 4th Annual NC Catch Summit on beautiful Ocracoke Island. Ocracoke is a part of the Outer Banks of North Carolina. Ocracoke is accessible by ferry, boat or small plane. While you are in Ocracoke please enjoy our charming village. If weather and time permits, you can enjoy our town by walking or bicycling the streets and back roads of our village, visiting our historic 1823 lighthouse (the oldest operating lighthouse on the east coast), and the historic British Cemetery. Take a hike through a maritime forest to Teach's Hole, once home to the notorious pirate, Blackbeard. And of course, no trip to Ocracoke is complete without stopping by the Fisherman's Exhibit in Community Square and then swinging by the Ocracoke Fish House on Silver Lake to see a truly beautiful working waterfront.

Getting to Ocracoke?

There are 3 main ferries that service Ocracoke. One is free from Hatteras Island, and is about 1 hour. The other 2, which connect with mainland North Carolina, service Swan Quarter and Cedar Island. The Swan Quarter ferry is about 2.5 hours, while the Cedar Island ferry is about 2 1/4 hours. Reservations are strongly recommended for the Swan Quarter and Cedar Island routes. To make reservations or for more information visit <http://www.ncdot.gov/ferry/>
